BIG LOSSES BY FIRE.

Tremont Temple In Boston Entirely Destroyed.

ESTIMATED LOSS OF $375,000.

One Fireman Had a Leg Broken and Another Man Seriously Injured—An Immense Whisky Fire in Covington, Kentucky—Fires at Other Places.

BOSTON, March 20.—Fire broke out about 7 o'clock yesterday morning in Tremont Temple, on Tremont street, opposite the Tremont House, and before noon the entire structure was gutted, entailing a loss roughly estimated at $375,000. Fireman Patrick Dunn, of engine 26, had a leg broken, and another man, name unknown, is reported to have been seriously injured.

Box 710 was rung in about 7:10 o'clock. This is the special box of the Parker House, and people pictured with the ringing a big hotel conflagration and all its attending horrors. It was not the Parker House ablaze, but the Tremont Temple adjoining. The fire in the Temple had been discovered by one of the guests on the fourth floor of the Parker House. He had first been aroused by the smoke, and on going to his window was startled by seeing flames darting from the windows fronting him. He thought it was the hotel, and smashing the glass on one of the signal boxes on his floor sent in the first alarm.

Pedestrians on Tremont street had seen the smoke issuing from the upper story of the Temple and they sent in an alarm from box 35, quickly followed by a second. When the Parker House box number was rung in an employee of the Parker House sounded the gongs of the different floors to arouse the guests and quickly the occupants of the room hurried out in great excitement. When it was seen that there was no immediate danger of the fire reaching the hotel the guests proceeded to remove their trunks. The protective department did much to save the interior of the house through the open stairway.

The protective department turned its attention to the saving of carpets and furniture. Before the fire department arrived six streams were turned on the fire from stand pipes in the Parker House, and Landlord Whipple felt quite elated at the work of his employees in the assistance rendered.

Through open windows in the upper floors great volumes of smoke poured in from the burning building, which was a fiery furnace, twenty minutes after the first alarm. The blaze poured from all the upper windows, threatening the Burnham building and W. S. Butler's building adjoining on Tremont street, placing the Parker House and the Park hotel in danger in the rear and alarming the firemen lest it should get down among the rookeries on Province court. The firemen had ran lines of hose up through the Parker House and the Park hotel, and both buildings were damaged by water.

At 9:30 o'clock the fire was well under control. The loss on the Temple is variously estimated at from $325,000 to $375,000, while the Parker House is believed to have been damaged by water to the extent of $50,000.

Besides the Union Temple church, Rev. Dr. C. Lorimer, pastor, the following were among the concerns occupying offices in the Temple building: Blish School of Oratory, American Baptist missionary mission, Home Mission society, the business and oratorial departments of the Watchman and the Baptist Social union, office of Woman's Voice and Loyal Women of America.

Union Temple church had their Sunday services at the Mount Vernon church on Asburton place.

Tremont Temple, which has been one of the most conspicuous public buildings of Boston in the current generation, stood on Tremont street opposite the Tremont House and adjoining the Parker House. Originally the structure was widely known as the Tremont theater, an old-time resort for dramatic entertainments for a bygone generation.

Since 1863 it has been celebrated all over the country as the largest Baptist church in New England, if not in America, and the headquarters of that denomination. The purpose of taking it for religious purposes was stated in the original appeal for purchase money to found a free church in Boston where "all persons, whether rich or poor, without distinction of color or condition, might worship."

The prize paid for the place was $350,000, to which $125,000 was added for furnishing and remodeling. On Dec. 7, 1851, the new house was dedicated, but on the night of March 31, 1852, the Temple was burned, and John Hall, a citizen, was killed, and George Estes, a fireman of engine No. 7, Charlestown, had his back broken and died shortly afterwards. The loss was $178,365; insurance, $45,244. A new building on the old site was completed, however, in December, 1878, at a cost of $126,000.

On Aug. 14, 1879, the building was destroyed again by fire, but was promptly rebuilt and reopened on Oct. 17, 1880, at a cost of more than $280,000. The auditorium was one of the largest in the country, being 122 feet in length, 72 in width and 66 feet in height. The seating capacity was equal to an audience of 2,000 people. Beneath this great hall was the Metolian, with a seating capacity of 1,000.

WHISKY FIRE.

An Immense Distillery and Rectifying House Destroyed.

COVINGTON, Ky., March 20.—The immense distillery and rectifying house of James Taish & Company, on Scott street and the Ohio river front, in the space of two hours Saturday night, was turned from the best equipped and largest establishment of the kind in the state, into a mass of blackened ruins, level with the ground.

The buildings covered nearly a half square, fronting on Scott, and from that extending back to the suspension bridge. The huge warehouse, where all the old whisky is kept in store, is separated from the rectifying house and still by a distance of 15 or 20 feet, and it extends to Front street. The fire had its start about 2:45 o'clock.

In the lower floor in the eastern wing of the building, where the still is located, a spirit pipe evidently burst, and in a moment the room was full of vapor, which instantly became flame on coming in contact with a gas jet always burning.

In the rear room, where the break seems to have occurred, were the only men in the building. These were Ed Danphy, Gns Mossett and Pat Quinn.

The rush of vapor scalded Quinn rather badly, and Mossett, who was slightly singed around the face, Dunphy was on a platform, and when he heard his companions shout fire he was so alarmed in his hurry to get off that he fell headlong, tearing a great gash in his skull, receiving severe internal injuries.

His two companions hastily dragged him out of the reach of the flames, which were spreading rapidly. The first engine on the scene was from the Covington fire department, and several streams of water were soon directed against the flames. The result was next to nothing. The flames kept spreading to the floors above, and soon the entire east wing was one huge mass of raging fire that worked its way rapidly upward, downward and forward toward the rectifying department, which faces on Scott street.

Chief Meyers of the Covington fire department saw immediately that the fire was one against which his own force would be completely powerless, and he sent in a call for help to the Cincinnati department. It was answered immediately, and a while there was hope that the flames could be confined to the third and fourth floors, and to that end both the Cincinnati and Covington firemen bent all their efforts. It did not take long, however, to find that this was an entirely futile hope.

There were a number of large 5,000-gallon tubs on the third floor filled with whisky to the brim, and as these went to pieces, the burning liquor ran in fiery streams down into the floors below spreading to the liquor there stored and baffling all the efforts of the firemen. Several of the men who worked for the company previous to this, however, had gone into the building, and while the flames were roaring above them had succeeded in rolling out about 150 barrels of whisky that were taken down on the bank of the Ohio, out of the way of danger. The building and all the rest of the contents were entirely destroyed, entailing a loss of $200,000, which is nearly covered by insurance.

TWENTY-ONE LIVES LOST.

Disastrous and Fatal Fire in Madrid, Spain.

MADRID, March 20.—At 3 o'clock Sunday morning fire broke out in a pastry cook's shop in Saint Sebastian. A keg of spirits exploded and spread the fire to the adjoining houses, which were densely tenanted. All the occupants were sleeping and the flames were around them before they could be warned.

Two families on the top floor of a 4-story house were suffocated in their beds. Fifteen persons jumped from the windows. Ten of them were killed and three received mortal injuries. Twenty-one persons are known to have perished and several others, whose fate is unknown, are believed to have been burned or crushed in the ruins.

Thread Factory Destroyed.

NORTH EASTON, Mass., March 20.—E. J. Morse & Company's large brick cotton thread factory, at South Easton, was burned about midnight Saturday. The fire first seen was in or near the engineer room. The loss on building and machinery is estimated from $175,000 to $200,000, only partially insured. It was the largest fire in the history of the town and will throw about 75 hands out of employment.

Several Firms Burned Out.

HONESDALE, Pa., March 20.—The following business places were burned out at 4:40 Sunday morning in the center of the city. William Reif, boots and shoes; F. G. Terwiler, chins and glass; Barbara & Mangine, fruit; William Heft, boarding house, and L. Grambes. The Postal telegraph office was destroyed and the wires are down. The total loss is $30,000.

Coal Oil Lamp Overturned.

KNOX, Ind., March 20.—A coal oil lamp was upset in the home of County Clerk Fletcher Saturday night and exploded. Mr. Fletcher was badly burned and considerable damage done to the house.

Planing Mills Burned.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., March 20.—Fire destroyed the planing mill of Baker & Kline, in this city, Saturday night. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $12,000.

A Quiet Lynching.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 20.—Jesse Jones, who shot and killed Sheriff John Burnett, of Campbell county, on a Knoxville and Ohio train Saturday morning, was taken from the jail at Jacksboro that night and swung to a gate post. There were not over a dozen men in the mob, and the lynching was done so quietly that the citizens knew nothing of it until yesterday morning.

Postmaster Commits Suicide.

SAVANNAH, March 20.—R. W. Fuller, postmaster at Allapha, committed suicide yesterday by taking an overdose of morphine. Bad health prompted the deed. He left a note saying his accounts were all right and requesting his father to give what money the government owed him to his wife.

A STARTLING FIND.

Firecrackers Discovered on White Star Line Steamer.

THENARONIC PROBABLY BURNED

There May Be a Plot in Liverpool to Destroy Vessels at Sea and the White Star Line Officials Are Investigating—The Naronic Given Up For Lost.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The discovery of some firecrackers in the hold of the White Star line freighter Tauric, which arrived a few days ago from Liverpool, has led to the suggestion that a terrible fate may have overtaken the White Star liner Naronic which has been given up for lost.

In the rear room, where the break seems to have occurred, were the only men in the building. These were Ed Danphy, Gns Mossett and Pat Quinn.

The rush of vapor scalded Quinn rather badly, and Mossett, who was slightly singed around the face, Dunphy was on a platform, and when he heard his companions shout fire he was so alarmed in his hurry to get off that he fell headlong, tearing a great gash in his skull, receiving severe internal injuries.

His two companions hastily dragged him out of the reach of the flames, which were spreading rapidly. The first engine on the scene was from the Covington fire department, and several streams of water were soon directed against the flames. The result was next to nothing.

The White Star line officials have ordered an investigation of the matter.

In shipping circles here it is supposed that there may be a plot in Liverpool to injure the White Star line, and that the Naronic leads one to believe that it has been given up for lost.

On Thursday evening Lyman Fisher, the dock superintendent, found a handful of firecrackers on the top of a bale of jute in the Tauric's hold. There were six or seven small crackers scattered over the bale, and on top of them a good deal of cargo was piled. The crackers were undoubtedly placed in the cargo when the Tauric was in Liverpool. Whether they were put there by an incendiary or were left in the jute accidentally is not known.

The White Star line officials have ordered an investigation of the matter.

"The land, as the property of the American National Red Cross, will be the one piece of neutral ground on the western hemisphere, protected by international treaty against the tread of hostile feet. It is a perpetual sanctuary against invading armies and will be so respected and held sacred by the military powers of the world. Forty nations are pledged to hold all material and stores of the Red Cross, and all land its followers, neutral in war, and free to go and come as their duties require.

"While its business headquarters will remain as before at the capital of the nation, this gift forms a realization of the hope so long cherished that the National Red Cross may have a place to accumulate and produce material and stores for sudden emergencies and great calamities; and if war should come upon our land, which may God avert, we may be ready to fulfill the mission that our adhesion to the Geneva treaty has made binding upon us.

"I will direct that monuments be erected defining the boundaries of this domain, dedicated to eternal peace and humanity, upon which shall be inscribed the insignia of the treaty of Geneva, which insignia all the nations of the earth are bound by solemn covenant to respect.

"Not only our own people, but the people of all civilized nations, will have published to their knowledge that the American National Red Cross has a home and a recognized abiding place through all generations.

"For this I have striven for years, mainly misunderstood, often misinterpreted, and it is through your clear intuition and humane thought that the clouds have been swept away and my hopes have been realized."

A YOUNG LADY'S JOURNEY.

She Will Make a Trip That Will Be Famous in Railroad History.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Miss Bessie Mitchell Doolittle, confidential clerk for Knight & Leonard, the printers, will leave Chicago next Wednesday night at 9:30 o'clock on a little trip that will be famous in railroad history.

It is, however, the intention of the committees having charge of these nominations to get together early in the week, and it is probable that within a few days there will be some material in hand upon which the senate may act in executive session. Saving the possibility of a contest over an attempt to reorganize the force of employees the open sessions of the senate during the week does not promise to be frequent, long or interesting, as it is hardly to be expected that the committee on privileges and elections will be able to re-apply upon the senatorial appointment cases, which are sure to prove a subject of discussion, within that time.

DARING DEED OF DESPERADOES.

Three Robbers Hold Up a Man on a Chango Cablecar.

CHICAGO, March 20.—G. W. Hoffman, real estate dealer, was held up and robbed Saturday evening by three men on a Wabash cablecar in the heart of the city. At Jackson street the car stopped to take on passengers, among whom was Mr. Hoffman.

The three robbers crowded around Mr. Hoffman as he stepped on the rear car, and while one of them clutched him by the throat the other two tore open his coat and robbed him of his pocketbook, which contained $106 in currency and a check for $375, payable to Mr. Hoffman. The thieves then jumped from the train and ran toward the lake front and escaped.

Royal Train Wrecked.

LISBON, March 20.—King Carlos, Queen Marie Amalia and all the members of the cabinet went on a special train to Caldas Da Rainha yesterday to open a hospital. The train ran off the track at Campald and all the passengers were thrown off their seats. Aside from the fright caused by the shock, however, no body suffered from the accident. After two hours' waiting the royal party proceeded on another train.

Steamship Sarnia Arrives.

HALIFAX, March 20.—The steamship Sarnia, which was reported disabled at sea and has been long overdue here, arrived in the harbor unaided early yesterday evening. She has 500 passengers aboard and much apprehension had been felt regarding her. Steamers and tugs have been searching for her for several days past. Her delay was caused by a broken shaft.

Injured by an Electric Car.

CINCINNATI, March 20.—Thomas Burke, aged 47 years, living at Spring Grove avenue and Dorman street, fell under car No. 5 of the Colerain avenue line near Millcreek bridge yesterday afternoon, sustaining a fracture and a laceration of his right ankle. Patrol No. 10 took the man to the city hospital. It is thought that amputation will have to be resorted to.

Arrested for Forgery.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 20.—Joseph Miller, an installment agent, has been arrested here for extensive forgeries, and on being searched a Bible and certificate of membership in the Epworth league was found in his pockets.

Cut to Pieces.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 20.—Frederick R. Vickery, aged 15, fell beneath a coal car on the Keyser Valley branch of the Lackawanna road and was cut to pieces.

Indications.

Local snows, followed by clearing weather, and generally fair Monday, variable winds.

RED CROSS HOME.

The Indiana Land Accepted by Miss Clara Barton.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Miss Clara Barton, president of the American National Red Cross society, in accepting the magnificent gift of between 700 and 800 acres of land on the borders of the blue grass region of the state of Indiana tendered the association last month by Dr. Joseph Gardner of Bedford, Ind., writes:

"The land, as the property of the American National Red Cross, will be the one piece of neutral ground on the western hemisphere, protected by international treaty against the tread of hostile feet. It is a perpetual sanctuary against invading armies and will be so respected and held sacred by the military powers of the world. ANNOUNCEMENT.

It will be the aim from this on to have the Bulletin on press at 11 a.m., and new items and other matter should be handed in not later than 10 a.m. on day intended for publication. The earlier they reach the office the better. And advertisements of any length should be handed in the day before publication.

The Kansas Senatorship was not for sale this time. If it had been, the Republicans would have bought it. The investigation now on at Topeka settles that point. They offered $5,000 for one vote, but didn't get it.

The Cincinnati Optician.

By the request of several of Maysville's physicians Optician Louis Landman, of 159 Elm street, Cincinnati, Ohio, will be at Aberdeen, Ohio, at the hotel where their patients suffering from errors of refraction or of accommodation of the eye, may have their eyes examined and the proper glasses adjusted.

Optician Landman will remain there three days only, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 21st, 22nd and 23d, and no one should miss the opportunity of securing the proper glasses from him.

References, every leading physician of Maysville, Ky. Ferry charges will be returned to patients from Kentucky.

The Contest For the Collectorship.

Says the Washington correspondent of the Courier-Journal: "Representative Painter is working for A. W. Bascom, of Owingsville. Bascom ran up his flag early in the game, announcing his candidacy for the Internal Revenue Collectorship of the Seventh (Lexington) district. He has been here about a week looking around and taking soundings. He seems to be satisfied with the outlook. This afternoon Representative Painter and Bascom called at the White House and had a talk with the President. Mr. Cleveland listened attentively to what he said, but did not indicate what he would do. However, the gentlemen left the White House much pleased with the interview. All the same Mr. Shelby will be appointed Collector for that district."

"THE MAYSVILLE GIRL."

Editor Bulletin: In your "Current Topics" of last week, we find a suggestive theme. "The Maysville Girl" has set us a-thinking, about women in general, what they are and what they should be. Men are said to possess more characteristics in common, and to be devoid of an "inner sati influx of personality" peculiar to women. W. D. Howells, in answer to the charge that he creates no perfect women, said: "I am waiting for the Almighty to begin." True, so far, but he might have added that such a step would necessitate on the part of the Almighty a recreation of the opposite sex, as a "perfect woman nobly planned" would die from sheer want of congenitality.

After all, a social element of this kind would be totally out of place in a mundane sphere, and such lofty conceptions are by no means conducive to happiness, as among the Greeks, the Romans and the Arabians there existed a worship of the beautiful, and of female beauty in particular, and yet they treated her as an inferior, and even as a slave. We have seen it stated that one always feels a pang of disappointment that the girls and women one meets are not (or rarely) the girls or women of one's ideal.

"Ideal" is oftentimes the synonym for unreal, and a woman's worth should be estimated by a certain dignity and sincerity of character, combined with a purity and sweetness of disposition. A mistaken idea seems to have taken possession of some of our young people that it does not pay to be "learned and wise and studious," and the "mere nothing" of conversation are more acceptable in society circles. We actually heard of a young man who asked: "What is all this talk about tariff reform? What does tariff mean, anyhow?"

AMICUS.

An Ex-Maysvillian Millionaire.

Mr. E. D. Pickett, of Joplin, Jasper County, Missouri, in subscribing for the WEEKLY BULLETIN writes interestingly of some former citizens of this city. He says:

"Your paper is like an old acquaintance, always welcome. It brings before me the names of many of my old friends and acquaintances I knew so well in the past. You have another man to the front, who started a poor boy and has worked up to a high position and has become a millionaire, and his name is E. L. Martin, who went to school to Rand and Rieheson, and clerked for Ike Nelson. He is President of the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railroad, now building on a straight line from Kansas City to Shreveport and New Orleans. They pass through Joplin and connect with the Split Log or Southern Railroad which is built some fifty-five miles from here to the White Sulphur Springs, Ark., and from there they will build a gap to Fort Smith and from there to Texarkana, &c., &c. Joplin gave them $12,000.

"Another man here runs as Express Agent on the Missouri and Pacific Railroad, E. C. Brewton, better known as Lance. Many in Maysville know him.

"The future for Joplin never was brighter than now. There will be a great many fine buildings go up this summer. We will soon have eleven miles of electric railway; we have a six-story hotel costing $100,000. Wishing the BULLETIN a prosperous life, I remain your friend,

"E. D. PICKETT."

The Rileys To-night.

This company will open here to-night for a week in a repertoire of splendid plays. From the advance sale of tickets this morning they will play to big business all week. This is one of the best popular priced company that has ever visited Maysville. Tickets, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

R. H. VANSANT, of Elliott County, recently appointed by Governor Brown as a member of the new State Board of Equalization, can not qualify because he holds the office of Master Commissioner in his county. The Governor has appointed L. C. Prichard, also of Elliott, in his stead. Owing to the delayed work of the County Assessors this year it is not probable that the State Board of Equalization will be called together until about the 1st of June.

Visitors to the Great Fair.

According to present indications there will be large transfers of population between New York and Chicago next summer. The Chicago women who are not identified with the various movements that their sex are undertaking are beginning to anticipate with dismay the hospitalities the great show will entail. These propose to let their houses in Chicago for the summer months, and take lodgings in this city or occupy cottages at the seaside. When these opportunities have been made known such of the New York people as expect to visit the fair have availed themselves of the chance of escaping the crowds at the hotels and the chances of boarding houses, and engaged these vacated houses. A group of people divide the time among them, succeeding one another in such installments as they may arrange, and with their own servants live as comfortably as if at home. Many New Yorkers would gladly avail themselves of such opportunities if they could be made known. If some convenient exchange of properties could be established it would be mutually beneficial. — New York Evening Sun.

Pronunciation of Two Names.

It may seem like trying to gild refined gold or paint the lily to suggest the possibility of an improvement in the pronunciation of proper names adopted by Mr. Daly's company of players, but I have always imagined that the heroine in "As You Like It" was Rosalind, with the accent on the first syllable, and that Shakespeare made a humorous point in the stretching of the pronunciation in Orlando's love verses. This point is entirely lost by pronouncing the name Rosalind, with long "i," and equal stress on first and last syllables, all through the play. The first intimation that the melancholy Jaques was a ruralized prototype of the Chatham street character also comes from Mr. Daly. George Clark is addressed in his "As You Like It" role as Jakies. Is there any authority for either of these novelties? — Cor. New York Advertiser.

A Great Bald Eagle Killed.

The largest bald eagle ever killed in this vicinity was shot in the town of Concord, a few miles west of Oconomowoc, Wis., recently by Richard Yates. It measured 7 feet 3 inches from tip to tip, and weighed eleven pounds. The talons, measured along the convex surfaces, are nearly two inches in length and very strong. It was perched upon a lofty elm, when Mr. Yates discharged both barrels of his shotgun at it simultaneously, after which the bird flew a few hundred feet and suddenly fell to the ground dead.

A golden eagle, measuring nine feet from tip to tip, was captured by Johnnie Spahnauer, a sixteen-year-old boy, a few miles south of West Bend, Wis., on the same day. — Milwaukee Sentinel.

DEATH OF A VANDERBILT.

Captain Jacob Hand Vanderbilt Joins the Great Majority.

NEW BRITTON, S. I., March 20.—Captain Jacob Hand Vanderbilt, brother of the late Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, died at his home on Grimes Hill, S. I., at 6 o'clock yesterday evening. He had an attack of congestion of the lungs two weeks ago, and for four or five days was delirious and in a critical condition. He recovered from that attack, but was left in a very weak condition and did not rally. For several days his death was expected. His son, J. H. Vanderbilt, Jr., was alone at the bedside with the nurses at the time of his death, his daughters and his nephew, Cornelius Vanderbilt, having left the house a short time before the end came.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced, but he will be buried in the Moravian cemetery at Newdorph, S. I.

Captain Vanderbilt was born on the east shore of Staten Island, Sept. 2, 1807. The village of Stapleton has been built on the old homestead farm. He received a common school education, but early in life began to sail in his father's boats on the waters about New York. When only 18 years old he commanded a steamboat. For nearly 40 years he commanded steamboats plying between New York and ports on the Hudson and Long Island sound and in New Jersey.

When the East Shore railroad was built on Staten Island, running between Clifton and Lottenham, he became president of the road, and gave his time to the management of that road and the ferries to New York until the railroad passed into the hands of the Rapid Transit company, organized by Erastus Wiman, in 1884.

He then retired from active life and has since lived quietly at his elegant home which overlooks the upper and lower New York bays. He married Euphemia Maria Banta, a descendant of General Ira Putnam, in 1834. She died in 1877. Three children survive him—Ellen, Mrs. Herman D. Caesar; Clara, the wife of James McNamee, both residents of Staten Island, and Jacob II. Vanderbilt, Jr., who is unmarried and lives with his father.

TWO SWITCHMEN KILLED.

They Both Meet Death in a Peculiar Accident.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., March 20.—Patrick Pidgeon, 32 years old, and Martin Heymer, 23, both switchmen, lost their lives in the Long Island railroad yard here this morning. The men were assisting in making up a freight train, and were on the roof of a boxcar which, with a number of other cars, was being shunted into the yard by a switch engine. The car upon which the men were standing left the rails as it was rounding the curve at the East Avenue crossing, and ran into one corner of the switch tower at the Montauk junction.

Heymer jumped or fell from the car when he saw it leave the track, and rolled under the wheels of the following car, which cut his body in two, killing him almost instantly. Pidgeon was crushed to death on the roof of the car by a portion of the switch tower falling upon him. The whole side of the switch tower, which is a 2-story frame building, was torn down and Switchman Cassidy had a narrow escape. The derailed car also tore up a number of switch rods, causing great inconvenience for several hours. The tracks were cleared, however, before the regular passenger traffic of the day began.

RESULT OF A ROW.

Two Soldiers Lie in the Morgue at Fort Russell.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 20.—As a result of a row at Fort Russell, four miles from Cheyenne, the bodies of two privates lie in the Garrison morgue. They are Herman Ungerer and George Jones. The latter murdered the former, and was killed while attempting to escape. Jones, who was probably insane, rushed up on Ungerer, saying: "You have been trying to get an excuse to assassinate me." Ungerer fired when Jones was not 20 yards away, but missed him. Jones then shot Ungerer dead and fled.

A dozen soldiers and five sheriff's deputies pursued him. After an exciting chase two of the soldiers, Meyers and Robinson, overtook Jones. They called to him to halt, and he turned and fired at them three times. Meyers fired first and missed. Robinson took careful aim and Jones fell. He was dead in two minutes.

STRANGE COINCIDENCE.

Death of a Mother and Son at Exactly the Same Moment.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—A strange coincidence in the death of mother and son at exactly the same moment occurred in this city yesterday. The case presents still more singular and touching circumstances. Mrs. Gardner, aged 91 years, and her son, Theodore, aged 58, have devoted their lives to each other, the son refusing to marry on account of his devotion to her.

For some time they had both been in delicate health, and a few days since the son was removed to the hospital. At 10:20 yesterday morning Mrs. Gardner died and another son went to the hospital to inform his brother of her death. He was informed that Theodore had died at exactly the same hour and minute.

DISASTROUS FREIGHT WRECK.

Two Men Killed and Another Slightly Injured.

HUNTINGDON, March 20.—The most disastrous freight wreck on the middle division of the Pennsylvania road for years occurred near Barre, this county, yesterday morning, involving the destruction of three locomotives and 25 loaded coal cars, and delaying all traffic for four hours. A fireman on one of the engines was buried under the wreckage, but he was rescued with only slight injuries.

After the accident Brakeman Jacobs of Lewiston and a teamster, whose name could not be learned, were killed by shifting trains.

VICTORY FOR the Monarchs.

WOULD IT ENTICE TO DRINK?

Bay State Theorists Have a State Scheme For the Liquor Traffic.

BOSTON, March 20.—An extraordinary liquor bill is now before the legislature. It is indorsed by the Rev. E. E. Male, Mrs. Mary A. Livermore and others. It proposes to place the sale of liquor entirely in the hands of the state. The bill provides for the appointment of a commission consisting of three men. The chairman shall be designated the state liquor manager.

The town shall vote yes or no as to whether liquor shall be sold there, and there shall be no license law. But when a town votes to have liquor sold the commission shall provide for the sale by establishing agencies not to exceed one for every 1,000 inhabitants.

All sales shall be at prices established by the commission, and the prices shall be only high enough to repay the state for its outlay, no profit being permitted to accrue from the sales over and above the expenses. Special efforts shall be made to prevent sales to persons of confirmed habits of intoxication, and only pure liquors shall be sold.

MINE UNDER TOWN ON FIRE.

HONEYBROOK, Pa., March 20.—The Honeybrook mine, operated by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company, is on fire again. The village of Honeybrook, which is directly over the mine, is menaced by a collapse of the earth. Fissures run through the town. These cracks serve as chimneys for the escape of the gas accumulating in the interior. So thick are the vapors that on several occasions it has been impossible to see any distance. The people are in a state of terror.

AMERICAN HER LITTLE SISTER.

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—Two-year-old Mary Dougherty smothered her 3-month-old sister, Ellen, in a crib in which both were lying. The older child lay entirely over the infant during the night, and snuffed out the little one's life.
